Journals of the University of Lodz:

A sign of scientific quality

Journals of the University of Lodz are appreciated by the Ministry of Education and Science, but they are also indexed in prestigious international databases, which means that they meet the highest publication standards. The necessary condition for placing a journal in the bibliographic database is its verification in terms of:

- substantive value of the published articles,
- uniqueness of the undertaken issues,
- credibility of the review process,
- the prestige of the Scientific Council and Editorial Board,
- internationalisation,
- publishing standards,
- ethical standards.

The evaluation process is multi-stage and the evaluation is carried out by experts. The decision to include a journal in the database is a scientific sign of the highest quality.

Credibility

The process of collecting data in the databases is carefully designed. It is based on IT solutions, standardisation of procedures as well as the knowledge and skills of specialists – individuals dealing with bibliographic analyses, librarians and publishing house employees. Complex procedures ensure that the content is up-to-date, valuable and reliable.

Citation rates

Presence in databases also allows for – thanks to the practice of publishing an attachment bibliography – measuring citation rates of articles and monitoring of their use in the scientific community. Thanks to this, it is possible to build the position of a researcher and the journal in which we publish, and in a broader context – research groups, institutions, countries.

Open Access

We implement an open access policy, thanks to which all articles are made available for free, under Creative Commons licenses and without technical restrictions on professional platforms: czasopisma.uni.lodz.pl (OJS), Digital Commons (Elsevier), as well as in the Repository of the University of Lodz.

How to publish an article in a scientific journal?

- Please read the information contained in the Aims & Scope and For Authors tabs carefully to make sure your article is relevant to the journal and is properly prepared.
- Submit the article using the "Submit" button or by e-mail to the provided address.

If in doubt, feel free to write to the secretary of the Editorial Board or to the Lodz University Press (agnieszka.kalowska@uni.lodz.pl).
